III. WORLD CONVENTION

Hotel Habakuk ****

MARIBOR ~ SLO ~ 22.-25.09.2016

The second largest city of Slovenia (which was part of the former Yugoslavia), Maribor is located on the Drava River which is an important tributary of the Danube.

Historical sources first documented a small settlement close to a castle around the middle of the 12th century. In the year 1204, Maribor was known as a marketplace and fifty years later a city can be found in old documents.

Prior to World War I, Maribor was part of the Austrian/Hungarian Kingdom and still today, many citizens speak German. In 1975, the Maribor University was established.

Today, the Roman-Gothic Cathedral is worth a visit as much as the castle museum, among many other interesting and historical sites like the Jewish Synagoge. Located on the banks of the Drava River is also the world's oldest fruit-bearing grapevine with an estimated age of 400 years. Over recent years, the Pohorje Mountains, at whose foothills Maribor rests, turned into a popular relaxation and sports hotspot, as well as a resort for lovers of nature.
